

“Throughout the Creed Court Project, adjacent to St Paul Cathedral, Restore London provided a professional and reliable service every step of the way. The team delivered the project end-to-end, demonstrating a determination to restore and delivery the Grade II existing façade to the highest standard. The finished product speaks for itself, we would not hesitate to recommend them. ”

Paul Murray – Contracts Manager, McAleer & Rushe

Scope of Works

Creed Court is a brand-new Curio by Hilton hotel situated in the shadow of St Pauls Cathedral. Following a full façade survey undertaken by our team, façade remedial works to the Ludgate Hill & Creed Lane elevations were undertaken. Works included design, supply & installation of fixings to stone plinths along with plinth installation working alongside Harrison & Goldman.

Decoration works were undertaken including cleaning of flaking paintwork, stucco and render repairs, including to neighbouring buildings and areas where the precast façade adjoined the existing retained façade. A new grand, granite entrance was also formed as part of our works.
